

Hymenophyllum minimum, one of the smallest native filmy ferns. Tom Moss found the photographed plant on rocks on Hawkins Hill, Wellington. The "Flora of New Zealand" (Allan 1961) gives the species' distribution as South and Stewart Islands only, but it is now known from Campbell Island, and a small number of North Island sites, including three other Wellington locations (near Ohiro Bay, Catchpool Stream and Newlands), Cape Palliser, and the Kaimai Range.

Photo: J. Braggins